Glen Cove Mansion Hotel Proudly Shows Its True Colors Announces LGBT Wedding and 1st Anniversary Package

Glen Cove, Long Island, New York, July 2011 ... Long Island's largest Gold Coast Mansion hotel is now most diverse. For more than a century, the historic Glen Cove Mansion Hotel has opened its doors to weddings of all varieties, starting with the storied Pratt family, and for the past four decades, weddings from across Long Island, New York and internationally. Although the Mansion has always welcomed LGBT weddings, they are celebrating New York's historic same-sex marriage law with a rainbow edition of their iPad wedding announced this spring.

Glen Cove Mansion is providing LGBT couples married in 2011, and holding their celebration at the Mansion, with a new iPad 2 outfitted with a Rainbow Case – loaded with their wedding pictures*. Called the “Show Your Pride Wedding,” Glen Cove Mansion is also waiving the ceremony fee and including butler style champagne at wedding event (either ceremony or reception). The Mansion can also suggest officiating clergy to the couple.

To celebrate each LGBT couple's 1st Anniversary in 2012, Glen Cove Mansion Hotel is welcoming them back for complimentary overnight accommodations. In addition to a first-class guestroom, Glen Cove Mansion will provide the couple with breakfast for two and a celebratory bottle of champagne.

Glen Cove Mansion is the only mansion hotel on Long Island's historic North Shore Gold Coast with 187 guest rooms, and many of the original appointments remaining in the historic Pratt family country house. Drawing on its 101-year heritage of first-class hospitality, from the moment couples and their guests drive through Glen Cove Mansion's front entrance, they are welcomed into a world of elegance and gentility. The distinctive architectural appointments of the Mansion -- with its marble-paved Receiving Hall, the grand baronial double staircase, glittering crystal chandeliers, elaborately carved marble mantelpieces, arched cross halls with original lunettes crowning doorways and Edwardian staterooms – all cast a spell of artistry, ambiance, tantalizing culinary excellence, and superb attentive service. The Mansion's Wedding Planning experts and European-trained Executive Chef can completely customize a couple's wedding dinner & reception to their exact specifications.

Additionally, wedding parties and their guests have full access to the historic Pratt family swimming pool and garden pavilion (in season – indoor pool available year-round), newly refurbished and expanded 24/7 Fitness Center, biking & hiking through the 55 acre estate (bikes provided), and much more. Pub 1910, on the Mansion's 3rd floor, provides after-wedding entertainment into the wee hours of the morning.
